

About the EBB Program

The EBB Program is a Federal Communications Commission (FCC) program that provides a broadband and/or device benefit for qualifying low-income consumers during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Rules

If you qualify, your household can receive a monthly Emergency Broadband Benefit Program (EBB Program) benefit of up to $50 to cover the cost of your internet service (up to $75 on qualifying Tribal lands). Through the program, your service provider may also offer a one-time internet connected device benefit of up to $100 for a computer, tablet, or laptop with a co-payment of more than $10 but less than $50.

This program is temporary and will expire when the fund runs out of money or six months after the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services declares an end to the COVID-19 health emergency.

Your household cannot get the EBB Program benefit from more than one service provider. You are only allowed to get one EBB Program benefit per household, not per person. If more than one person in your household participates in the EBB Program, you are breaking the FCC's rules and will lose your benefit.

The Emergency Broadband Benefit Program is separate from the FCC's Lifeline Program. If your household qualifies for both programs, you can apply for and receive both benefits.

Note: Broadband service providers must also meet certain criteria to participate in the EBB Program. Check with your service provider to determine if it participates.

What is a household?

A household is a group of people who live together and share income and expenses (even if they are not related to each other).

Do not give your benefit to another person

The EBB Program benefit is non-transferable. You cannot give your benefit to another person, even if they qualify for the EBB Program.

Be honest on this form

You must give accurate and true information on this form and on all EBB Program related forms or questionnaires. If you give false or fraudulent information, you will lose your benefit (i.e., de-enrollment or being barred from the program) and the United States government can take legal action against you. This may include (but is not limited to) fines or imprisonment.

You may need to show other documents

If the EBB Program Administrator is not able to validate that you or someone in your household qualify by checking available electronic resources (including eligibility databases for the FCC's government agency partners), you may need to provide additional documents. For example, you may need to provide an official document that proves your participation in a qualifying government assistance program, your income, or your identity.
